

Pla de Govern Obert
2019-2020

Have you heard about the Open Government Plan 2019-20?

The plan defines the Government of Catalonia's strategic framework for open government and sets out actions to be carried out over the next two years

A concrete, transversal structure

The Open Government Plan encompasses 7 areas of action, each with a strategic objective, and 24 operational objectives

4 strategic areas of action

Transparency

Objective: Empower citizens by making all public information not protected under the Transparency Law accessible in a way that's understandable and instructive

Open data

Objective: Drive generation of social value through the use of open data

Good government

Objective: Ensure high ethical and quality standards in the projects, work and services of the Government of Catalonia

Citizen participation and democratic quality

Objective: Make citizen and civil society participation a regular part of the process of developing and assessing public policy

3 transversal areas of action

Networking with an international outlook

Objective: Foster networking in relation to open government, both within Catalonia and internationally

Awareness-raising and involvement of society

Objective: Move towards a society that's increasingly knowledgeable about and involved in open government

Organisation and resources

Objective: Have the equipment and technology necessary to tackle future challenges in the area of open government

Strengthens democratic quality

The actions and objectives defined support an approach to government that's more open, transparent and ethical

- Democratic quality is enhanced by involving citizens in decision-making and offering open data to everyone
- Open government improves the public perception of institutional quality and therefore increases trust in the political process and institutions

A vision for a sustainable future

In developing the Open Government Plan, the goals set in the 2030 Agenda, particularly SDG 16, have been taken into account. The strategic framework defines a long-term vision for the next five years and facilitates the definition of actions that will help us achieve the future we want. The Plan also includes projects that reflect a gender perspective
